DUEL IS FOUGHT BY 2 DEPUTY SHERIFFS AND ALLEGED CREW AT AN ILLICIT STILL

Game Said to Have Been in Progress At Time of Raid

STOCK OF GUNS WAS JUST OUT OF REACH

Two Gallons of Liquor Destroyed Together With Copper
Outfit

Deputies Sharpe and Wright had a close call on Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the eastern end of the county, when they made a raid on an illicit still, on the mountain near where Red Nelson met his death a year or two ago. The deputies had received word from that section that a still was in operation, and that a former violator of the prohibition laws could be apprehended by a trip to that point, the man in question being shot by the officers some months ago, and after getting well escaped.

They were going along the road in the vicinity of where they expected to find the still, when they scented the still, and cautiously made their way to a point of vantage where they could see and not be seen.

According to the deputies they approached close enough to see that there were four men at the still, and it is alleged that they were in a game. It was also observed by them that about six feet away from where the men were seated some guns were stacked, consisting of an automatic Winchester shot gun, one Winchester pump gun and one single barrel gun, all loaded, according to the officers, with number two buckshot.

While this observation was being made, the officers decided that it was a case as to who could be the quickest. It is alleged that when the men were ordered to hold up their hands the firing commenced in which both sides emptied their guns. When the smoke had cleared away it was found that there was no one seriously injured, only one of the men apprehended at the still being hit, and this with only one shot. The officers are firmly of the opinion that due to the fact that the men whom they were seeking were some six feet away from their guns and only used a pistol in the duel which followed, that they owe their lives to this fact. Two gallons of whiskey were secured, 1,000 gallons of beer destroyed, together with a copper still of 100 gallons capacity. The still, according to the officers, was located in a most inaccessible place under a bluff, and could be operated in all kinds of weather.

(Associated Press.)
MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 20.—Twenty-six persons, including several Minneapolis residents, bankers, bond salesmen and three or four newspaper men have been indicted by the federal grand jury, charged with implication in nation-wide bond thefts, LaFayette French, United States district attorney, announced.

Students Hurt In Campus Riot

(Associated Press.)
LOS ANGELES, Oct. 20.—More than a score of Los Angeles college students were injured, one possibly fatally, as a result of burns from gasoline bombs and from blows on the heads and bodies in a riot, following a pajamarino party on the campus of the Southern branch of the University of California.

The attacking party is alleged to have been composed of students of a rival university.

LEGION ASKS VOTE ON SHOALS OFFER; OWSLEY HONORED

(Associated Press.)
NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 20.—After voting to table the report of the resolutions committee, the American Legion reversed itself today and adopted the resolution, urging congress to act on proposals before it for sale and operation of the government nitrate plant at Muscle Shoals.

The resolutions said the test of all offers should be the amount of fertilizers proposed to be manufactured.

Federal operation is opposed. The fertilizer production should have preference over the supply of power, the resolutions said, and a research station was urged to study the most approved methods of nitrogen production.

Alvin M. Owsley, of Texas, was elected national commander of the Legion at the close of the fourth annual convention. The vote was overwhelming.

BRIDGE SUPERVISOR FOR THE SOUTHERN IS FOUND DEAD IN A LOCAL HOTEL ROOM

Body of T. E. Smith Returned To Sheffield Today For Interment

HIS DEATH BELIEVED TO HAVE BEEN NATURAL ONE

Coroner's Jury Thinks Man Died From Some Illness Says
Report

The body of T. E. Smith who was found dead in a local hotel last night was taken to his home in Sheffield this morning. Mr. Smith was a supervisory foreman of bridges for the Southern Railway between Memphis and Chattanooga. He was a frequent visitor in the Twin Cities where he had a considerable number of warm friends.

According to the proprietor of the hotel in which the body of Mr.
Smith was found between 5 and 6 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, his former guest came in and registered and without waiting for supper stated that he was not feeling well, and wished to retire to his room.

The last known of Mr. Smith was when he called the hotel office at 2:10 on the morning of the day of his death, and inquired the hour.

It is stated that a maid who expected to care for the room Mr.
Smith engaged, opened the door. She reported to the office that the man in the room seemed to be asleep, and she was directed not to awaken him.

It was the proprietor of the hotel who finally decided to make an investigation with the result that he found his guest cold in death, late yesterday.

Coroner's Court Held.

At 7 o'clock last night, Coroner F. M. Hamilton empaneled a jury, which after deliberating on the evidence submitted by physicians, and after making a personal examination of the body, reported to Judge Troup that so far as could be seen the dead man had met his death from some illness, the nature of which was unknown to them.

The glasses of Mr. Smith were found on the bed near the body, as was a small diary book. It contained entries for every day as they came on the calendar, in some cases negotiations were short and in others long. On the day before that of his death, Mr. Smith had made the singly entry, "Decatur."

The dead man appeared to be about 55 years of age.

ANNUAL SINGING

The annual singing at Powell Chapel will be held October 22nd. Everybody who likes good singing is cordially invited to come and bring a well filled basket of something good to eat. We are expecting a large crowd and some very fine singers. Signed CHARLIE ANDERS.

Father and Son Taken From Jail and Shot By Mob

(Associated Press.)

CAMDEN, Tenn., Oct. 20.—Ed Hartley and his son, George Hartley, recently convicted of manslaughter in connection with the killing of Connie Hartley, Ed Hartley's nephew, in Benton County last February, were taken from jail here by a mob last midnight and shot to death in a vacant lot 200 yards from the prison.

The mob numbered about 35 men, whose faces had been blackened. They appeared suddenly at the jail and overpowered the sheriff.

EUROPEAN NATIONS SHOULD PAY WAR DEBTS, PUBLISHER THINKS

Birmingham Editor Tells of His Experiences On Trip Through Allied Nations

The power of facts interestingly told was demonstrated last night at the Morgan Kiwanis Club when Victor H. Hanson, publisher of The Birmingham News, spoke on his announced subject: "Things a newspaper Man Saw." Mr. Hanson saw what he told on his late trip to Europe which began last May on board the new steamer "Paris," which boat, according to the speaker, was a veritable floating palace. He said the European trip was the fulfillment of a promise made to Mrs. Hanson and her father 25 years ago almost to a day. When as a moneyless youth he inquired of the present Mrs. Hanson's father if he might wed his daughter, the future father-in-law replied: "Wait a year, until my daughter has visited Europe." But, as always, youth would not be denied.
Young Hanson promised to take the young girl to Europe himself, not naming the exact date.

Oil burning saves ships 40 per cent on fuel bills, five days time on an ocean voyage to Europe, the price of coal firemen, stated Mr. Hanson.

In Paris there are 1,000 acres in Parks, said the speaker, and in this connection he prophesied and preached that Birmingham would repeat itself for defeating a recent greater park proposition. He said the week day, Monday, was "clean up day" with the French, as all day Sunday they spent in having a high good time. He said nine men out of 10 in Paris seemed to have a use for walking canes and that bearded faces were the rule among the men folks.
He said there were many fish streams but few fish, that the government owned the tobacco business in France, that a package of Camel cigarettes cost 80 cents, that smokers had to buy their matches at 3 cents a box, that government owned spring water cost 35 cents a quart, and was dearer than cheap grades of wine.

The French women are not comparable to the women of the South," said the speaker in a burst of inspiration. "Practically every woman in France smokes," he said. Cigarette holders in France are about four inches long and are colored to match the color of the dress a woman happens to wear."

"The French people are the most natural people in the world," declared the speaker. He then told how the sexes kissed openly, etc. It was proven that train fare was dearer than auto fares, long hauls are as low as 4 cents a mile, per passenger, but short hauls are 8 cents. Auto travel cost Mr. Hanson 7 cent a mile. Farmers live in groups in France, and farm out for say 20 miles.

Churches and Battle Scenes

The speaker's description of European churches and of battle fields far out ranked those given by the ordinary "returning traveler." Merriment was in the air, as the speaker showed how a certain Crown Prince, fought his part of the World war five miles from the battle front, and in a hole so deep, that no destructive power of the Allies could have possibly "got" the Prince.

"One of the things that made me proud I was an American," said the speaker, "was visiting three Amer-

DEMONSTRATION OF LOYALTY TO CAUSE MARKS THE END OF STATE CONVENTION

Official Benediction Repeated As Delegates Hands Clapsed
In Wide Circle

OFFICERS RE-ELECTED
FOR ANOTHER YEAR

Selection of Next Meeting Place Left To The Executive Committee

With their hands clasped, and singing, "Blessed Be The Tie That Binds," the delegates to the state convention of the W. C. T. U. drew the meeting to a close late yesterday afternoon in the auditorium of the Central Methodist Church where all the sessions of the three days meeting were held.

The official benediction was said by all the women, as the hand clasped circle surrounded the large auditorium—"The Lord watch between me and thee while we are absent one from another."

One of the last acts of the convention was to formulate and send a telegram to the American Legion in session in New Orleans, praying that gathering to endorse and help enforce "the present laws" that uphold the Eighteenth Amendment. The wire opened with a recital of the deeds done for their country by Legion members in the great war, and went on to say that "We, the W.
C. T. U. mothers of the war heroes are praying that they will continue to be patriotic to their country by upholding all its laws and especially those for the "destruction of the liquor traffic."

The resolution committee's report was made Thursday morning and among other things they endorsed the "Port Amendment," the teaching of scientific instruction in the public schools concerning the poisonous effects of alcohol on the human system; the absence of the use of fermented wines in the sacrament. They demanded that every W. C. T. U. member pledge herself to aid the law enforcement officers, and finally the several departmental activities of the state organization were endorsed. A "blanket" resolution of thanks to the people of the Twin Cities, who "had aided in any way in the success of the convention" was passed amid cheers.

According to reports of the hardest workers for the convention it was one of the most satisfactory state gatherings of the W. C. T. U. ever held. Such declared "that the 'end crowned all' and that the demonstration of loyalty and devotion at the closing session was a true index of the spirit and determination of the Alabama Woman's Christian Temperance Union.

The executive committee is charged with the responsibility of selecting the place for the meeting of the next convention. The following is

BONAR LAW SEEMS TO BE MAKING RAPID PROGRESS CREATING GOVERNMENT FORCE

Marquis Curzon and the Earl of Derby Have Agreed To Serve

LAW HAS CREDIT FOR GEORGE'S DOWNFALL

His Advice Carried Weight in Decision of Conservative Group

(Associated Press.)
LONDON, Oct. 20.—Andrew Bonar Law appeared today to be making rapid progress in forming a cabinet to replace the fallen coalition government.

This was evidenced by announcement that Marquis Curzon and the Earl of Derby, both men of influence, and experienced cabinet ministers, have agreed to serve under him in any capacity.

It was Bonar Law, more than any other man, who influenced the unionist caucus to secede from the coalition. He had been a spinster whom the rank and file of the unionist commoners were waiting to hear. He is a serious and unemotional man with a quiet manner. His opinion that it was more important to keep the party together than to win the next election, and "whether by his own fault or the force of circumstances Lloyd George has lost the confidence of the country," decided many votes. There was also a strong feeling in the party that the Chamberlain plan, which gave the party's destinies over to the small faction representing it in Parliament, was not a fair device.

The last straw which weighed in the scale was the Newport election in which a straight unionist candidate won on a platform of opposition to the coalition and all its works, although the politicians thought the labor party had a safe prospect in that constituency.

Bonar Law will have Lord Curzon for one of the pillars of his cabinet.
Curzon remained away from the caucus today, but sent a letter of protest against the exclusion of the lords.

Open Season Will Open November 1

(Montgomery Bureau, Albany-Decatur Daily)

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Oct. 20.— The open season on deer and quail in Alabama will start November 1 and the open season on wild turkey gobblers will start Decatur 1. The state department of conservation today announced that the first supplies of hunters' licenses delivered to the probate judges had been exhausted and that practically all probate judges had requested additional supplies. This is accepted as an indication that more interest is shown in the game laws than ever before.

THREE KILLED.

(Associated Press.)
WILLIAMSPORT, Ind., Oct. 20.— Belief was expressed here today that removal of rails caused the wreck of the Wabash train which caused the death of three and the injury of seven persons. Seven coaches were destroyed.

WE FAVOR ACCEPTANCE OF HENRY FORD'S BID FOR MUSCLE SHOALS.

RED CROSS SUFFERS AT THE HANDS OF THE TURKS.

The public press has been full of accounts of the marches, counter marches, and the "victories" of Kemal, the Turkish bandit of the Near East. It has been full of talk about the political fortunes of the outstanding statesmen of the world as effected by the Turco-Greek war, but very little has come through concerning the Red Cross, as to how it has served and suffered for the sake of humanity. Stories are now being printed of the return to Athens of Red Cross workers from Smyrna. It is said they are in many instances afflicted with loathsome disease contracted while in contact with the miserable victims of Turkish beastiality.

Bayonets, bullets, poison gas and shrapnel are bad enough, but they are nothing as compared with the diseases communicated by the loathsome Turks. It is said that soldiers are much more willing to take their chances in battle, where there are good field hospitals, than against the unmentionable diseases spread by the Turk army and its camp followers both male and female. The whole area surrounding Smyrna, is said to be swept with all sorts of deadly hideous diseases.

With all such odds against them, it is said that the Red Cross has never lacked for volunteers who were willing to carry relief at a moments' notice.

And if another call should come to Red Cross workers now afflicted with diseases contracted on or near the recent battle fields of the Near East, they would answer it, just as gladly as they did the first call. We expect heroism of the soldier, the sailor and the aviator—it is their business to be heroic, besides the role of hero is made comparatively easy for them by the excitement through which they must pass. But no excitement—no bugle call moves the Red Cross workers. They hear only the solemn call of duty. Their call is the cry and groans of the diseased and dying. It makes one think quite well of his race, to reflect that we have brothers and sisters who are ready to be offered up for their fallen brothers and sisters. We cannot say truthfully, that God is dead or nobility departed from the children of men, as long as we have the record of the Near East Red Cross workers before us.

POINCARÉ EXPLODES A BOMB IN THE CAMP OF MR. LLOYD GEORGE.

It may be that the President of the French republic, by bluntly saying that France, not England caused the Turk to halt, helped weaken Lloyd George, until nothing remained for him to do but resign. Mr. George in his latest speech, took the credit to Great Britain, and incidentally to himself for the arrest of the Turk. Most probably neither man made an entirely just claim—the credit is generally between people, not shared by one alone or by one group alone.

The thing that would seem to have deterred Mustapha Kemal, was the fact that the two powerful nations of France and England, both barred his way to further conquest. But in support of George's contention the Turk would have hardly ventured further, if he was sure England was in dead earnest, and Lloyd George says she was. Besides it is a fact that England is the nation which really made war preparations of any consequence. Despite the fact that the Frenchman Franklin-Bouillon, actually conducted the negotiations that ended the Turkish advance, many will prefer to believe, in view of the known character of the Turk, that the fact that English General Harrington's men doggedly refused to budge even when the army of Kemal marched right up against them, had a more determining effect than the diplomatic Frenchman. But because Franklin-Bouillon actually did the job, gave the enemies of the little Welshman, plenty of argument to use against him.

And his enemies doubtless claimed that in aronsing France, already in a bad frame of mind toward England he was doing his country a lasting injury.

It is claimed that the personal feeling existing between the President of France and the Premier of Great Britain, is "something fierce," that for some time they have never lost an opportunity to antagonize each other, and that the smooth operation of diplomatic relations has many times been halted.

It is not a pleasant thing to believe that two men have been able, because of their personal likes and dislikes to come so near bringing about an open break between two nations so closely allied in the great war and so mutually interdependent, but such has ever been the case since history began to be written. The stealing of a single individual Helen of Troy, is credited with bringing on the conflict that Homer said "brought endless woes upon the Greeks and prematurely hurled out into Hades, the souls of many heroes, and gave their bodies to the wild beasts and the fowls of the air".

The Poincaré-George feud, may not bring on war between England and France, but blunt claim of the French Premier, doubtless proved to be a very destructive bomb in the political camp of Lloyd George.

SAVE MONTICELLO.

Monticello, the old home of Thomas Jefferson in Albemarle County, Va., is for sale.

Jefferson M. Levy of New York, the owner, has consented to a notice of sale being published.

Monticello is in the foothills of the Southwest Mountains, and is washed by the Rivanna River. It is part of the original patent obtained by Peter Jefferson, the father of Thomas, who had for a neighbor there John Randolph.

Thomas Jefferson began the construction of his home in 1769 or 1770, and it was in 1772 that he carried his bride there. He was his own architect and he adapted many of the ideas that he became acquainted with in his foreign travels.

After his service as President, he was reduced to a state of comparative poverty, and it was only through the assistance of friends that he was able to retain the estate during his life. It was his home for fifty-six years, but its sale after his death was compulsory in order that his debts might be paid, a task which was accomplished with the aid of Thomas Jefferson Randolph, the grandson, and his daughters, who kept a school that they might contribute toward clearing the name of their great-grandfather.

Monticello has been in the possession of the Levy family since 1880. The present owner is a bachelor and he has made numerous efforts to dispose of the property to the Federal Government and to the Thomas Jefferson Memorial Association. The property has been maintained in good repair and contains a collection of Jefferson mementoes valued at a quarter of a million dollars.

According to Mr. Levy, his family has spent $2,500,000 on the property, but he has been willing to let the place go as low as $500,000, provided he is assured that it will be maintained as a public memorial, similar to that of Mount Vernon, the home of George Washington.

Years ago Mrs. Matrin W. Littleton, when her husband was a member of the Congress, was actively engaged in a campaign to save Monticello for the nation and although she interested many members of the Congress, especially those from the South, she was unable to obtain an appropriation.

In discussing efforts to make the place a sort of public shrine, Mr. Levy says:

Mr. Wilson and Secretary Baker both wanted me to let the government have it for $500,000, and I told them I would if they would use it as a summer White House. But the war came on and Congress never appropriated the money. It ought to be maintained for the benefit of the nation as a whole.

Two years ago the Jefferson Memorial Association inaugurated a movement to raise $1,000,000 through public subscription with which to purchase Monticello, but the money was hard to obtain and the movement seems to have died.

The present owner is upwards of 70 years of age. He has served three terms in Congress and is of distinguished lineage. He has no direct descendants to which the property might be left. In event of his death before the government obtains title to the property, it is probable that the 700-acre estate may be lost to the American people.

No name has a greater meaning for the American people than the name of Thomas Jefferson. It is unthinkable that his home or his personal effects should fall into the hands of strangers.

LLOYD GEORGE RESIGNS AS BRITISH PREMIER.

The greatest political event that has occurred in many a day is the downfall of Lloyd George's coalition government, caused by the defection of the conservative party. His resignation removes from public life, for a while at any rate, one of the most interesting figures among the world's statesmen. Thanks to the strength of the British empire and his own ability, he was the most powerful statesman of his time, and ever since 1916, when he became the British prime minister, he has been busily engaged in making history.

The storms that have been gathering over the little Welshmans' head were intensified by the Near East imbroglio, although he seems to have made the best of an extremely bad situation which menaced the peace of the Balkan states and all Europe. Unquestionably, British diplomacy lost prestige at Mudania and the Lloyd George conferences called to settle European affairs were also failures. The ex-premier used all his adroitness and political sagacity in trying to solve the post-war problems, and if he failed, it may truly be said that they constitute a task for a super-man.

Whatever mistakes Lloyd George has made, his services to Great Britain and the allies during the World war revealed extraordinary energy, uncanny prescience and splendid patriotism. He had the driving personality which put Great Britain into the war with every ounce of her resources and kept her there until victory was won. He was equally strong in the early days of peace making. No man of recent times has had more influence in shaping world events. His hand has been felt in Ireland, in Egypt, in Asia and in all the intricate wrangles which followed the signing of the peace pact at Versailles. He was the last of the "Big Four" who met in Paris. Clemenceau, Orlando and Wilson had already been retired. All paid the price for the part they played in the World war and afterward.

Andrew Bonar Law becomes the new premier. He is a man of ability, but lacks the qualities of his brilliant predecessor. The passing of Lloyd George will cause regret in America, where he is admired for his fighting qualities and his great, though erratic, gifts as a statesman. There is much speculation over his future. Will Great Britain discover that she cannot do without her "strong man" and call him back to power. That contingency is not at all improbable.—Age Herald.

The farm bureau cotton in the different warehouses of the cotton producing states is acting as a governor of the market, and cotton manipulators are having considerably difficulty in preventing any fluctuations in the current market other than those upward. In the local cotton compress at Decatur there is stored already over 5,000 bales of cotton, the property of the members of the Alabama Cotton Pool Association. Much of this cotton it is understood is free from any incumbrances whatever, and represents more than all the cotton ginned in the county up to September 25. In various other warehouses of the cotton producing states it is safe to say that there is this number of bales in storage under the plan of the state association; and when this number is multiplied by 67, the number of counties in the state, it is easily understood that there is a greater number of bales being held off the market in this state and other states of the south as well, than at any previous time in the history of the cotton industry. It is to a remarkable degree having much to do in stabilizing the price of cotton, and the dawn of a better day for the cotton growers is already being observed. The cotton is graded by competent members of the association, stored by them, insurance on same paid, and every feature of the marketing plan is within the bounds of the association, which is proving the only feasible plan for co-operative selling ever inaugurated over the cotton states.

Those growers who have taken advantage of the plan and become members of it, are not only adding to the net returns of their labor in growing the staple which is an international product on the markets of the world, but they have by so doing added many thousands of dollars annually to the cotton producing states, which will spell volumes in the years which lie out before.

A plan seems at last to have been evolved in which the grower has a say in the price which he will be paid for his product, and not only so, but he can draw at once a warrant on the warehouse wherever the cotton is stored which is good at any bank and can be cashed without any expense to the holder.

Low salaries for Legislators are said to mean a low grade of laws; if that is the case, no wonder Alabama has such laws.

To that faithful band of women who wear the insignia of their rank by the display of the letters W. C. T. U., there is a reverent respect for, upon the part of each and every one who realizes the consistent attitude taken by them during the long years in which they have labored so patiently and earnestly, even when the cause which they represented seemed to be trailing in the dust of defeat. To their initiative; to their constancy of effort; to the faithfulness with which they pursued; to the faithful prayers which went up from the abode of each and every one; to the fact that they knew no defeat, even when it raised its hydra-head in the very path of their pursuing, is due in a large measure the success of the organization, and today it is recognized as one of the most potent factors for good in keeping safe the millions of young lives upon the stage of action today, and those who come later. Women have been the worst sufferers from the evil effects of alcohol, and the burdens they have borne, in many instances uncomplainingly, have cemented the determined efforts in a concrete form and will continue to bless the world with their goodness and fragrance. Any section where they come together to labor and exchange ideas how best to pursue, and relate the achievements of the past, is made better for having them in its midst.

Money is becoming plentiful, there is cotton to be seen everywhere, corn is being gathered, and there is no reason for a pessimistic outlook. The barns of the country are full of sweet scented hay, and obligations made some time since is being liquidated at a rapid rate. We are up to the top of the hill, and the descent will be easy. Christmas is just round the corner, and good old Kris Krinkle is on his way, laden with the things which bring joy and gladness to every household. The small boy is counting the days when he will be permitted to open a pack of fire crackers and rejoice at the explosion, or if it fails to go off, to break it and watch it "spew."

These annual occasions are the periods when those away come back to the home hearth, and there amid the best associations on earth, spend a period which fortifies them for the duties again after the holidays are over, and they return to their studies or business as the case may be, full of pep and pleasant remembrances which will tide them over until vacation days come again. These are but the mile posts along the way of young life, and each one set up marks an epoch in their life, back to which they can revert in after days with a great deal of pleasure.

Already the mothers of the land who have sons and daughters away from home in the various schools over the country, are fashioning in their mind the design for the holly wreath which will adorn the windows of the home, and are recalling the good things they intend to make for this festive occasion, which will be devoured with such a zest by the boys and girls who will come back. Carefully is every detail being worked out in the plans which are in anticipation, and many pleasant moments will be spent by those in this glad service who are watching and waiting for some one to come back to the home-roof.

Men are wiser than lightning in one respect. They hit the same place as often as possible, while lightning is said never to strike in the same place more than once.

Mr. Hughes seems to have been rather premature in approving the "stand" the "Allies" took as to the Near East, since if any stand has been taken over there, nobody knows anything about it.

Monticello should be preserved for posterity and Congress should not hesitate to make the comparatively small appropriation that is needed to preserve it.—Nashville Tennessean.

How You May Enhance Beauty by Simple Means

By LUCREZIA BORI
The Famous Spanish Prima Donna

In the search for true beauty of body, whether it be to acquire symmetry of line, grace of posture, or the sparkling eye and fresh coloring bespeaking good, rich blood, the first step is to do everything in our power to become physically fit.

This underlying principle of all physical beauty—to maintain the body in a physically fit condition—has been preached and exploited almost since the beginning of time, but there are many of us who do not realize its true import.

How many of us have seen women who, though young, have a muddled complexion and their pudgy figures, while they look about in an overheated house and employ much of their spare time eating rich chocolate? If they would become sufficiently interested to get to the bottom of things and regulate their exercise and diet, their appearance and outlook on life would be improved immeasurably. It would take only a short acquaintance with a good book on the number of heat calories which specified foods produce to teach them that a normal-sized chocolate cream contains as much fat as a conservative, well-balanced meal.

Of course, there are exceptions to all rules. All of us have seen the woman whose coloring rivals the perfect pink portrait, and who seemingly transgresses all the rules laid down to the long sufferers who would acquire a good complexion. In other words, she seems to eat rich chocolates whenever and as often as she pleases, she exercises little or none, unless she has the inclination to do so, and still she remains beautiful. But this exception is the very rare one, and you cannot afford to be misdirected by it. Rather should you feel that you deserve more credit because you have to work for results, and doubtless the effect you achieve will be more lasting.

Overeating is a very serious indulgence. If you do not know whether your appetite is normal or abnormal, ask your physician where you can obtain a table or chart giving the calories contained in varied articles of diet. This has been worked out by experts, and will enable you to keep tabs on the amount of food you should take, and you will find that you feel better and are in better condition.

A splendid practice is that of drinking two glasses of hot water half an hour before breakfast every morning. This washes out the stomach at a time when the processes of digestion which progressed while you were asleep at night have made your stomach emptier and it will be at any time during the day. If plain hot water is distasteful to you try squeezing in a small amount of lemon juice.

Take at least one good, brisk walk daily, regulating it according to your spare time. If you do this and follow the special exercises for toning of the muscles which I shall continue to give from time to time, your physical condition will make itself evident in your high spirits, good complexion and light, sparkling eyes.

WHERE THE BRIDEGROOM'S HAT REPRESENTS HIM.

AFTER traveling seven weeks across the Pacific, and almost to the equator, it is surprising and almost disappointing to find Batavia, the capital of Java, an up-to-date, hustling city, and not a wido-picturesque place.

Like any European or American town, Batavia has banks, museums, Ford cars and movies. However, the climate of this bustling town is so hot that the Java to enter business usually remain there the rest of their lives.

Like the Englishmen in India, the Dutchmen in Java are untried for life in their native country, unless they happen to be very rich. Servants are so inexpensive in Java that even a person in moderate circumstances can afford at least six. The Europeans living in India and Java find the luxury of many servants difficult to give up when they go home, and very often stay in the east for that very reason.

In Java, even the chauffeur, who gets the princely wage of twenty dollars a month, has a servant to go the dirty work on the car for him. He would not think of washing the car, changing a tire or cleaning a spark plug. His flunkies do the unpleasant jobs, while he proudly drives the car. He even takes his helper with him while driving, for fear of a puncture—he might have to get out in the road and get dirty. If the other front seat is occupied, the helper crouches on the running-board.

Every one in Batavia who can afford it drives in the evening in a motor. Otherwise they go out for a walk. For life in Batavia is mostly lived out of doors. The ladies wear beautiful kimono of wonderful colors, and the lovely batik scarfs for which Java is renowned—giving the streets a gay tone. The men swagger along by their side in their red sarongs.

According to the religion of Java, which is Mohammedan, a man is allowed four wives. But the "H. O. L." has even reached Java, and the number of wives has, on that account, been cut down to a great degree.

In Java there are two classes of wives—first-class wives and second-class wives.

Here Are Six Delicious Sunday Night Dishes.

SUNDAY night suppers have become popular as an informal way of entertaining friends. One main dish, a salad, a sweet dish which may be prepared ahead of time, and good coffee constitute the meal, which is easily cooked and served, with or without a maid, and quickly cleared away. A fish dish is lighter and more appetizing than a meat dish, and the following recipes embody some excellent suggestions:

Grilled Oysters. Drain one pint of large oysters from their liquor and dry them on a coarse linen towel. Put a lump of butter in a frying-pan with a teaspoonful of onion juice, pepper and salt. When hot, but not scorching, lay in a half-dozen oysters at a time, turn them in one minute, and cook not more than three minutes. Put the oysters on a hot dish and when all are grilled add a half-cupful of cream to the butter in the pan and thicken with a little cornstarch dissolved in milk. Put in a teaspoonful of chopped parsley, turn the sauce over the oysters and serve.

Jellied Oysters. Cook two dozen fresh oysters in their own liquor for two minutes or until the beads curl. Drain and set aside. Have ready a well-seasoned tomato jelly, cold and ready to set, and pour a layer into a mould wet with cold water. Place the mould on ice for ten minutes, then place on the top a layer of oysters, then a layer of the jelly, and so on until the oysters are all used, then set to harden. Serve sliced on lettuce leaves and mask with mayonnaise.

Codfish Timbales. Flake fine enough freshly boiled codfish to fill two cups. Add a cupful of cream sauce, a chopped, hard-boiled egg, salt, pepper, a tablespoonful of well-washed capers, juice of an onion, and a tablespoonful of melted butter. Pack in buttered timbale moulds, set the moulds in a shallow pan of water and bake. Turn the timbales out onto a hot dish, and garnish with lemon quarters and parsley. Serve cream sauce in a sauceboat.

Lobster Omelette. Take the meat from one small boiled lobster and cut it very fine. Add to it pepper, salt, juice of a small onion, a little celery salt and a half-cupful of cream sauce. Make an omelette in the usual way, and when ready to fold put in the lobster, fold, set in a hot oven just a minute, then serve. Shrimp may be used, or crabmeat, in the same way. Garnish with sprays of fresh cream.

Salmon a la Carbonne. Drain a large can of salmon and remove the skin. Bone, then flake the fish. Add a small cup of dry crumbs, juice of an onion, pepper, salt, two tablespoonfuls of melted butter, a gill of cream and a beaten egg. Fill buttered ramekins lightly with the mixture, and bake ten or twelve minutes.

Deep-Dish Oyster Pie. Scald three dozen large oysters in their own liquor until the beads curl, drain, then put them into two cupfuls of rich, well-seasoned cream sauce. Line a deep dish with good short paste, set in the oven, and bake five minutes, then fill with the oyster mixture, put on the top crust, and bake until the crust is done. Serve hot.

ADVICE TO GIRLS

By ANNIE LAURIE

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE: I am a girl of 17, and have a girl friend of that age. I love this girl very much. A few months ago we were in a dance, and met a young man of 18. We both love him very much, but it seems he likes me best. I am going with him now, but when I go out of town he goes with her. I think if I were not going with him he would keep steady company with her. I love this young man very much, and he says he loves me. What would you do?

My parents do not object to my going with young men. Would you stop going with this young man? I have lots of young men friends, but she hasn't any. LENA.

LENA: You are generous, Lena, to think of giving up the companionship of this young man in the hope that he will turn to your girl friend for companionship, but I hardly think you would be wise to do so. Love and friendship cannot be forced, and if he wished her companionship in preference to yours he would seek it, without any scheming on your part. He probably likes you both, and will continue to be a good friend to you both.

and you will be wise not to try to "manage" things in any way.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE: I am a girl of 17, and have been going with a young man 23 years of age. He went with a girl for three years before he went with me, and every time he comes he talks about this girl. He says he loves me better than any girl he ever went with. Is it right for him to talk about her? If he loved me would he talk about this other girl? BETTY LEE.

BETTY LEE: Yes, my dear, it is perfectly possible that he may love you and yet talk a great deal about the other girl, and there is really no reason why he should not, as he probably still looks upon her as a friend. However, there are better, more interesting subjects to talk about than personalities, and perhaps you can introduce subjects more worth-while into the conversation.

Annie Laurie will welcome letters of inquiry on subjects of feminine interest from young women readers of this paper and will reply to them in these columns. Letters to Miss Laurie should be addressed to her, in care of this office.

YOU CAN GET BACK YOUR GRIP ON HEALTH

"You can just tell the man or woman who may think Tanlac does not do good and lasting work that the medicine set me right five years ago and that I have been in fine shape ever since," was the statement made a few days ago by John W. Groves, a well-known merchant, of Lowell, N. C.

"Nervous indigestion had almost completely wrecked my health," said Mr. Groves. For a long time I could not keep down anything I would eat. Often while waiting on a customer I would get so nervous I had to call some one else, and finally I got so weak I simply had to give up work altogether. When I did get a little light food to stay on my stomach it would cause gas, smothering spells and headache.

"I took seven bottles of Tanlac and gained fifteen pounds and have never had any troubles since. My nerves are as steady as a clock now and I eat anything I want my appetite never fails me. In fact, I never felt better in my life than I do now and it's all because of the good Tanlac did me five years ago."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

Thin? Run-down? Sure Way to Get Right Weight

Increase Your Red-Blood-Cells. That's the Sure Way! S. S. S. Builds Blood—Calms This Means Strength!

Do you know why insurance companies refuse to insure a great many men because they are under weight? Simply because to be under weight often proves low fighting-power in the body. It often means you are minus nerve-power, minus red-cells in your blood, minus health, minus energy, minus vitality. It is serious to be minus, but the moment you increase the number of your red-blood-cells, you begin to become plus. That's why S. S. S., since 1820, has meant to thousands of underweight men and women, a plus in their strength. Hollow cheeks fill out. You stop being a calamity-looking. You inspire confidence. Your body fills to the point of power, your flesh becomes firmer, the age lines that come from thinness disappear. You look younger, firmer, happier, and you feel it, too, all over your body. More red-blood-cells! S. S. S. will build them. Ladies and gentlemen, a peppy, bony face doesn't make you look very important or pretty, does it? Take S. S. S. It contains only pure vegetable medicinal ingredients. S. S. S. is sold at all drug stores in two sizes. The larger size bottle is the more economical.

S.S.S. makes you feel like yourself again.

Success Means Work.

There are very many people who have great expectations, but the trouble with most of them is they won't exert the effort necessary to realize what they expect. Under present competitive conditions success comes only through hard work.

THAT FINAL TEST OF DEVOTION

"FOOLISH WIVES" A SENSATION

"Foolish Wives," Universal's costly photodrama of life and intrigue at Monte Carlo, which opened last night at the Princess Theatre for a two day run, has been heralded as the costliest and biggest picture ever screened. It lives up to its promises. Never has there been such a kaleidoscopic array of beautiful settings and artistic photography combined with such adept characterization and careful direction.

Erich von Stroheim the author, director and star of the picture, has made a screen masterpiece. Whatever faults it may have, and no picture is perfect, they are submerged by the force of the theme, by the realism of the atmosphere, and by the vivid portrayals of von Stroheim and his supporting cast.

It is easy to see where Universal spent the $1,105,736 the picture is said to have cost.

Monte Carlo, its principal buildings, its crowds, its activities and its very spirit, have been transferred to the screen.

All the buildings and lakes had to be built in California in imitation of Monte Carlo.

Traced Through Correspondence.
Lawyers and others whose business it is to find missing heirs to unclaimed fortunes declare that women are much more difficult to trace than men, owing to their change of name at marriage. They are, however, more ready to keep up correspondence with girl friends of their youthful days, and they often have cause to bless these old remembrances.

Art Note.

X-ray examinations show that a lot of the supposed works of old masters are fakes. We might add that a majority of the real works of the old masters are fakes also.

The Minimum.

Exchange—"One should always wear a smile at breakfast." That much, at least.—Boston Transcript.

OLD FOLKS MADE NEW.

"It is now five months since I took a course of your medicine for gas and stomach trouble and I am feeling entirely well. My friends all tell me I am looking 20 years younger and I certainly feel as they say. I am recommending Mayr's Wonderful Remedy to all ailing with stomach and liver trouble." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded.—Druggists everywhere. Adv.
